

Ensuring Consent is Truly Informed

Join us for ACTion Learning, where we tackle the challenge of ensuring that research participants fully understand project intricacies during consent. This session is designed for clinical research professionals, trainees, and PIs who conduct consent interviews or interact with participants. Through real-life scenarios portrayed by local actors, you'll learn without role-play, experiencing genuine reactions and consequences in a stress-free environment.

Gain insights into subtle cues indicating participant confusion, learn effective strategies like Teach Back and Chunk and Check methods, and improve research staff communication to better manage consent expectations.
